

TPH is in search of a passionate, knowledgeable hockey professional to spearhead all-things player development, on-ice curriculum, and programming innovation for its newest location in West Chester, PA. If you have a desire to spend your days in a tracksuit, coaching hockey players on the Skills, Habits, Concepts, and Details that supports TPH's overarching philosophy of developing Intelligent - Adaptable - Confident hockey players... if you're the type of person that loves being on the "go"... and if you're the type of person who will thrive on developing and advancing the next generation of impact players, on and off the ice, we'd like to learn more about you.

While a more comprehensive job description will be provided to finalists for the position, the Head of Hockey will have five core responsibilities:

- Create on-ice training curriculums consistent with the TPH Hockey Development Model
- Lead on-ice training sessions
- Work in lockstep with the division Director on all-things recruiting strategy to ensure programs are filled to capacity
- Be the ultimate great teammate, always at the ready to support the division Director on operational and logistical tasks that ensure quality
- Potentially serve as a coach with the Philadelphia Jr. Flyers Tier I "AAA" hockey program

Salary range is $50-65K with the opportunity to earn incentives based on performance. This is a year-round position and comes with a full benefits package. Start date is 3/1/24, but flexibility could be granted for the ideal candidate. To apply, please visit <https://totalpackagehockey.bamboohr.com/careers/113?source=aWQ9MjM%3D>.

For more information on TPH, its programs and the academy model, please visit <https://totalpackagehockey.com/careers>.