1. Head Skills Coach

Role Type: Contract

Role Overview

As a Head Skills Coach, you'll lead on-ice sessions, develop practice plans, evaluate player progress, and provide tailored feedback to athletes and their families. This position requires an experienced coach with a strong background in skill development and performance.

Key Responsibilities

- Conduct and lead on-ice training for players across different age levels
- Design and execute structured practice plans focusing on skill progression
- Evaluate player performance and provide specific feedback to aid improvement
- Engage professionally with players, parents, and coaching staff

Qualifications

- Demonstrated experience coaching youth players of various ages
- Comfortable with demonstrating hockey skills and techniques with a high level of proficiency
- Played at a high hockey level (AAA or above)
- Strong communication and interpersonal skills
- Proven experience in developing structured training plans
- Coaching certification or relevant credentials preferred
- Bachelor's degree in Sports Science, Kinesiology, Physical Education, or related field is a plus
- Background check required

2. Associate Skills Coach

Role Type: Contract

Role Overview

This role is ideal for coaches with some skills training experience who are eager to grow and learn under the mentorship of a Head Coach. The Associate Skills Coach will support the Head Coach in executing on-ice drills and developing youth hockey players.

Key Responsibilities

- Assist with on-ice training sessions as directed by the Head Skills Coach
- Help develop and implement drills and exercises
- Provide players with support, feedback, and encouragement during training

Qualifications

- Some experience in skills coaching is a plus
- Must have played competitive-level youth hockey
- Enthusiasm for learning and growing in a coaching environment
- Effective communication and teamwork skills
